Keynote Speaker

William E. Milliken
A 48-Year Commitment to Children

Bill Milliken, founder and vice chairman of Communities In Schools, Inc., is one of the nation's foremost pioneers in the movement to give young people the help they need to graduate from high school and go on to rewarding lives. The year 2000 marked the 40th anniversary of Milliken's commitment to children, and saw him receive two major national awards. The Edward A. Smith Award for Excellence in Nonprofit Leadership honors one executive each year who exemplifies "extraordinary leadership" over a lifetime of service. The "Champion for Children" award from the American Association of School Administrators (AASA) honors a nationally known non-educator whose contributions have significantly and positively influenced the lives of children.

Communities In Schools is the nation's leading community-based organization helping kids stay in school and prepare for life. Currently, CIS directly serves nearly 1.2 million students and their families each year in more than 3,250 schools in 27 states and the District of Columbia. Its grassroots, personalized approach embodies Milliken's long-held philosophy, "Programs don't change children – relationships do."

Milliken's activism began in 1960 when he joined Young Life, an ecumenical youth organization. He helped initiate "street academies" for young people who had dropped out of school and wanted a chance to resume their education, as well as live-in programs for substance abusers and youth in need of shelter and support. Milliken's experiences led him to search for a comprehensive approach to helping young people. This search culminated in the 1970s with the development of a model program that repositioned existing community resources into schools — the Communities In Schools network, which Milliken led as president until May 2004.

Milliken has served three U.S. presidents. During the Carter Administration, he was the White House Advisor on Youth Issues. In 1989, Milliken advised President Bush for the Education Summit with the nation's governors. Most recently, Milliken was involved in the planning of The Presidents' Summit for America's Future. In 1994, Milliken received the National Caring Award as one of the "10 most caring people in America." In 1992, he received the Temple Award for Creative Altruism, given by the Institute of Noetic Sciences, which honors individuals "whose lives and work demonstrate the transformative power of caring coupled with imagination and enterprise." Milliken serves on the board of Leadership Foundations of America. He is the author of three books, So Long, Sweet Jesus, Tough Love and The Last Dropout: Stop the Epidemic!. He received an honorary degree of Doctor of Humane Letters in 2007 from Bard College.

Dale Pollak
vAuto Founder and Chairman of the Board

A successful executive and author in his own right, Dale Pollak, was almost a dropout. He brings a message of hope and persistence to educators and community leaders not to give up on struggling students. His message is about hope and how one teacher radically changed his course in life.

Pollak received his B.S. in Business Administration from Indiana University and a law degree from DePaul University. He is founder and chairman of the Board of vAuto. He is recognized as a speaker who educates, challenges and motivates his audience.

Picture This Players

Infinity, a Product of Community Health Network

Lights ... camera ... action! Picture This interactive theatre group uses live, professional actors to provide education on a variety of life and work topics. Their issue-oriented shows engage audiences in exciting ways beyond traditional lecture-style presentations.

At the Summit, Picture This actors will play different dropout scenarios that escalate to a point of conflict. The facilitator will then encourage the audience to explore and evaluate what they have seen and challenge them to find ways to help struggling students stay in school.
